

White Hill Wind Farm

White Hill Wind Farm 110kV Substation & Grid Connection

White Hill Wind Farm is applying for planning permission to An Bord Pleanála under the Strategic Infrastructure Development (SID) process. The application seeks approval for a substation and an underground electricity cable to support the project's renewable energy generation and integration into the grid.

White Hill Wind Farm will assist Ireland in meeting its ambitious renewable energy targets to address climate change and enhance energy sustainability. Under the Climate Action Plan 2023, the government aims to achieve an 80% share of electricity generation from renewable sources by 2030

The application will be available on www.whitehillwindfarmsubstation.ie
